1.2. Organiser Points:

All teams, which compete in an EHF approved tournament and finish in the top half (50% of all participating teams), gain organiser points.

The EHF, according to the quality of the tournament, awards the organiser points. The organiser points will be added to the ranking points of the teams, finishing in top half.

Example: If the organiser has artificial lighting (15 Points), 2 referees per match (10 Points), a men's and a women's tournament at the same time (5 Points), regional television transmission (30 Points), – the EHF will award 60 Points for organisation.*

Rule: In case the organisation does not comply with the answers, the organiser has made in the aforementioned form, the number of points has to be changed accordingly after the tournament. The organiser has both the right and duty to adapt his organiser points prior to the tournament, if necessary.

Example: If the organiser gets 55 organisation points, also because he planned to have artificial lightning during matches played at night, but has failed to provide it, he has to reduce the organiser points, awarded to the winning teams, from 55 to 40 points.*

The calculation of the organiser points will follow a 2-way-strategy.

The criteria

- Number of foreign teams
- Internet live-streaming

can be chosen as tournament criteria but the respective points will only be added to the official organiser points when the respective information was provided and checked to/by the observer and the EHF Office.

Meanwhile the above 2 criteria and their points will be shown as possible “bonus points” in case they were selected by the organiser.

The EHF has the right to question organisers of tournaments that show a big difference regarding the organiser points prior and after the tournament.

In case of unsatisfying respond or the impression that the high criteria points were only added to attract teams but without the serious aim to fulfil the criteria respectively the EHF might ban the respective organiser / tournament for the next season.

It is the responsibility of the organisers to fulfil the criteria as announced via the websites. Any changes prior to the tournament have to be communicated to the EHF Office immediately.

Organiser points can only be awarded to the teams if the respective criteria were fulfilled.

In case of a reduction of points higher than 25% after EHF Observer verification , the ebt Tournament and Organizers will be receive one year ban from organizing the event.

Every player shall play during one tournament only for one team. In the spirit of Fair Play, the managers of the teams shall control this rule.

A registered ebt team is not allowed to completely change its name during the running ebt season (name extensions e.g. “origin team name + sponsor” is possible). The official ebt team name has to be clearly communicated to the organiser to allow a correct ranking. A published ranking can not be changed due to change of team names during or after the season.

One club can only take part in one tournament at a given time.

Remark: If an organiser doesn't follow the ebt rules, the teams have the right to demand compliance from the organiser.

In case of not being able to participate in an ebt tournament although already registered the organiser has to be informed immediately.

The points for tournaments played before the registration can only be awarded if communicated (as soon as possible and prior to the official end of the season).
